AMUSEMENTS

Loew's Lyceum.

Thrice on Thursday did Harry Holden and Lucy Herron "knock off the heat" at Loew's Lyceum. Thrice did they "stop the show" and as many times leave the patrons anxious for more. Holden is a comedian with a rare personality, and unlike legends of others does not advertise it—merely demonstrates it. His comedy is brought out by an excellent foil in the person of Lucy Herron, a perfectly good-natured and healthy "36," who not only can make folk laugh but is a good singer as well. It is a legitimate high-time act. Scenically, Rhoda and Crampton's act is the most pretentious offering on the bill, but vocally it is not satisfying. Their closing number, "Mighty Lak a Rose," Nevins' ever-popular lullaby, was the real piece of artistry in the act. An attempt in being made to sing the aria from the third act of "Aida." The aria by the female half of the team is fairly well rendered, but the Pharaoh of the male portion of the act reminds one of the lamentation of the prophet Jeremiah, who cried, "Pharaoh has lived beyond his allotted time, is become nothing but a great noise," or words to that effect. Perhaps the idea of the act is that Pharaoh loafed around the bullrushes of the Nile so long that he caught fish and tried then to sell them. At any rate, the rendition of the "Aida" number, so far as he was concerned, Thursday sounded more like a fishmonger's cry than the tones of an opera singer. Billy Morris gave a clever characterization of an old negro veteran with splendid voice and manner. He was ably assisted in his act by walnut-stained Bertha Sherwood, an alluring-looking "high brown" in make-up. De Lisle, the juggler, opens the bill, and Hale Hamilton in the comedy drama, "The Four Flushers," furnishes the celluloid portion of the evening's entertainment.

New Lyric.

"Flo-Plo," John Cort's charming musical comedy, which will be the attraction at the Lyric starting with a Saturday matinee for a limited engagement of one matinee and one night, is a fascinating and rejuvenating play, and full of heart and go. It has its moments of keen interest. It appeals to intelligent theater-goers. That the public has responded to it is best illustrated in its career. It ran throughout one entire season at the Cort theater in New York and since then has played in several of the larger cities, including Chicago, where it delighted large audiences for three months. You are to see the production exactly as it was presented in New York and Chicago.

The biggest hit in the history of musical comedy, "Leave It To Jane," is announced for next Monday and Tuesday nights with a special matinee on Tuesday at the Lyric theater. F. Ray Comstock and Morris West, the producers, have selected an excellent and well-balanced cast, and the young ladies of the chorus are both pretty and dainty. Youth, beauty, song, sunshine and joy are said to be found in the right proportions in "Leave It To Jane." It has the greatest success in incidents that are new and is the apex of hilarity in song and dance. The book and lyrics are by Guy Bolton and P. E. Woodhouse and the music by Jerome Kern. Comstock and West are sending here a cast of superlative excellence, embracing the names of many artists high up in the musical comedy firmament. The young ladies of the chorus are described as unusually pretty and dainty and the costumes charming. Everyone who sees "Leave It To Jane" will sleep well afterwards and rise in good humor in the morning.

Moving Pictures

Majestic.

Was ever an engaged pair without at least one practical joking relative—generally male—who never loses an opportunity to "kid" the lovers and play all sorts of tricks on them? Such a character is played by jovial Bobbie Bolder in Vivian Martin's new Paramount picture, "His Official Financier," which the Majestic theater is presenting today and Saturday. This is said to be only one of the intensely amusing situations in this screen comedy, which advances a new idea in laugh-making. A good cast helps daintily Miss Maudie.

"The Brat."

"The Brat," the latest and most notable of the productions featuring the incomparable Nazimova, will be the special attraction for one entire week at the Strand theater, beginning next Sunday afternoon. In booking "The Brat" for a week's engagement in Memphis, one of the finest of the newer productions was obtained as well as the best vehicle Miss Alla Nazimova ever appeared in. "The Brat" is an adaptation by Nazimova and Charles Bryant of Maude Fulton's famous Broadway success of the same name, which scored a remarkable success on Broadway for two years before being sent on the road.

Princess.

Evelyn Greerley will be featured for Friday and Saturday at the Princess theater in her latest production, "The Cuckoo Affair." Mystery, laughs and thrills are to be found in abundance in "The Cuckoo Affair." Miss Greerley portrays the role of Gail Prim, a so-

I'M SO GLAD I DIDN'T TAKE NASTY, SICKENING CALOMEL

"Dodson's Liver Tone" Makes You Feel Just Grand and You Can Eat Anything and Not Be Salivated

Calomel salivates! If you feel bilious, headache, constipated. If your skin is sallow, your breath bad, your stomach sour just go to any druggist and get for a few cents a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous Calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty Calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

If you take Calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow. Besides, it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tone you will wake up feeling great, with a hearty appetite, full of ambition and ready for work or play. It is harmless, pleasant and safe to give to children.
